Profile Training

Training your voice profile, or enrollment, is a simple process.   Once you login as a new user, you have the option to complete the enrollment process after you have selected and calibrated your microphone, during the Initial Personalization Wizard. This is recommended for best recognition results, but is not required to run the program. Training your profile should take only a few minutes to complete.
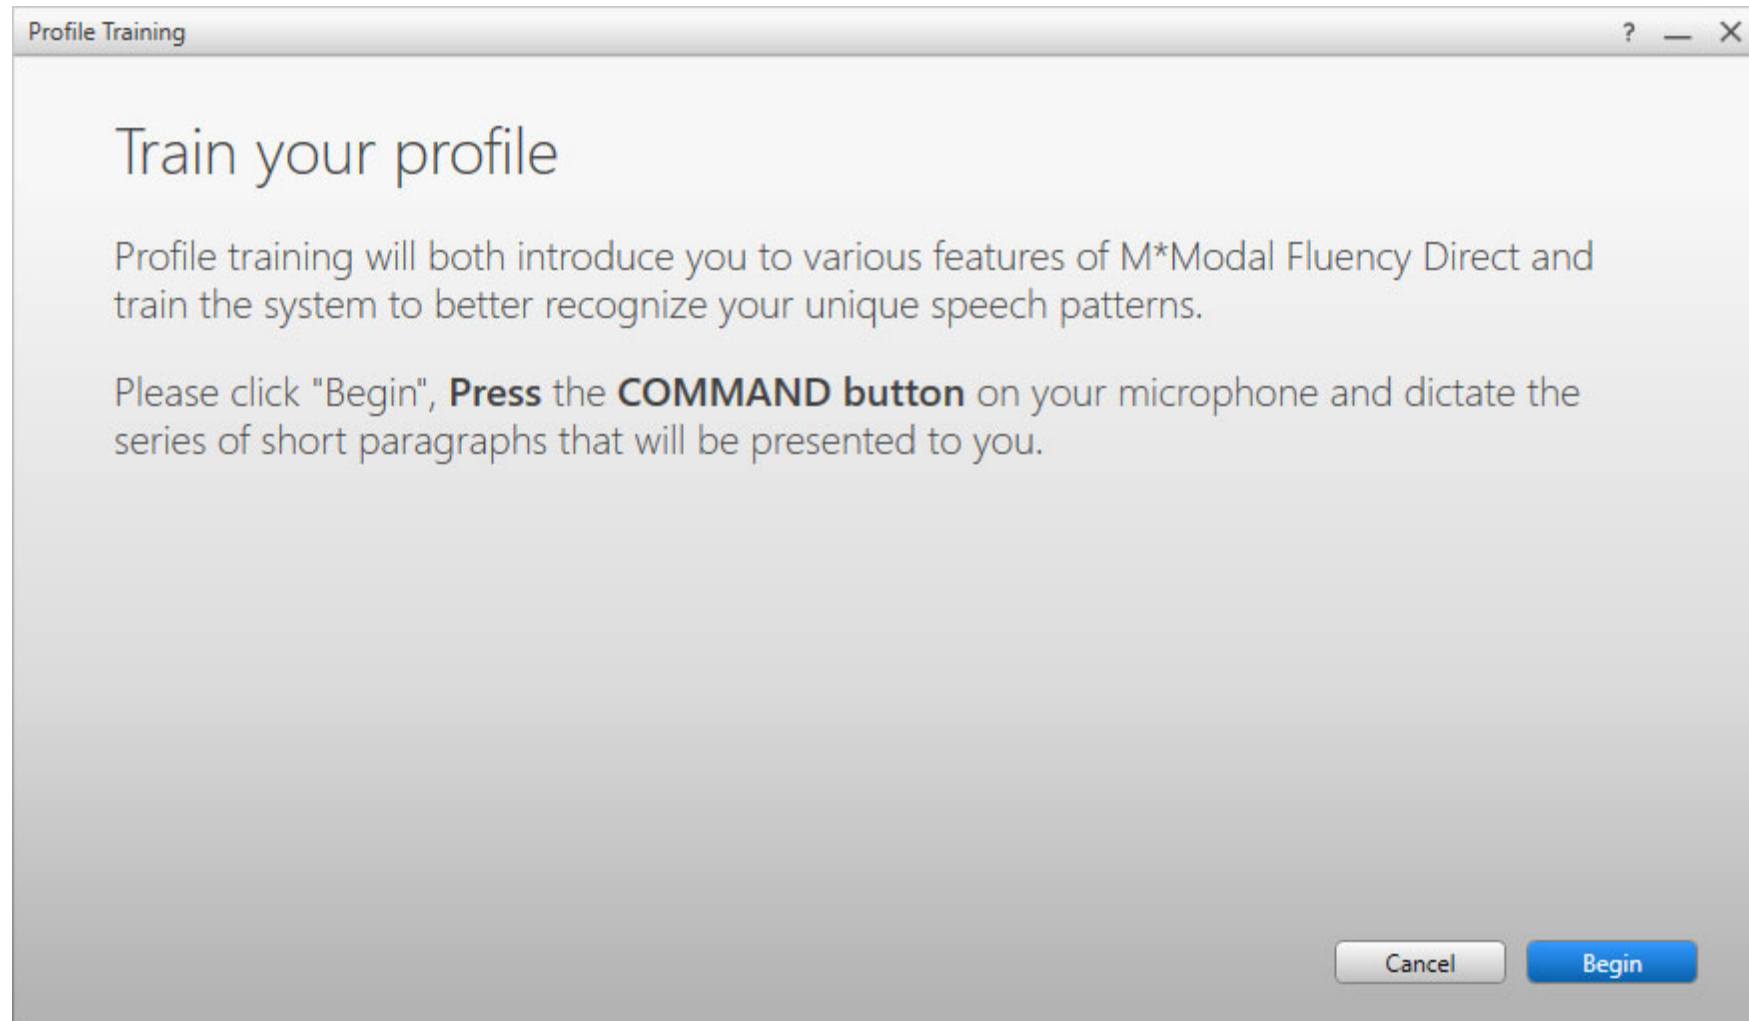

Once you are ready to train your profile, click the Begin button. The Profile Training screen will display a series of paragraphs for you to read. As you complete each paragraph, the system will move to the next one. You can also click OK to move on.

Train your profile

Should assistance be needed at any point in a Fluency Direct dialog, hitting the F1 button on the keyboard or clicking on the question mark icon will bring up relevant documentation. Profile training is now complete.
